Headline:
Sunny spells with some showers across the weekend.

Today:
A rather cloudy start, with low cloud, mist and fog patches in places. It will gradually brighten up in the afternoon, with some late sunshine developing from the south. Light winds. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
It will be rather cloudy, misty and murky overnight, with some hill fog. The chance of the odd shower moving into some southern coastal districts by dawn. Another mild night. Minimum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Sunday:
Early mist and low cloud lifting, giving way to bright sunny spells. Risk of isolated showers at first. A band of rain, locally heavy and strong winds will arrive overnight. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Early heavy rain quickly clearing to leave sunny spells and scattered, heavy and possibly thundery showers Monday and Tuesday. Drier and brighter Wednesday. Feeling much cooler and fresher. Windy too.
